

The Most Capable Ship.
The Vulcan, 6620 tons, with a radius of action of 12,000 miles at ten knots an hour, or 3000 at eighteen knots, is regarded as one of the most capable ships in the British navy. Her French competitor is the Tago, 7350 tons, which has a radius of 6500 miles in ten knots. The Italia, 15,000 tons, Italy's best ship, has a coal capacity of 8034 miles at ten knots an hour. From this it will be seen that no European navy has any vessel that can compare with the Oregon and other vessels of the United States navy which can steam 16,000 miles at ten knots an hour.

Stop, Thief!
Stop a small matter, which is stealing your strength, before it outruns your power to arrest it, and recover what it took from you. The safest and promptest recuperator of waning vitality is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which restores vigor, flesh and nerve, and because it restores activity to those functions whose interruption interferes with general health. Use the Bitters for dyspepsia, indigestion, rheumatism and kidney complaints and biliousness.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

VENO, THE GREAT HEALING POWER.

The Sick People of the Earth Find in VENO'S CURATIVE SYRUP and VENO'S ELECTRIC FLUID Healing for Their Diseases.

These Remedies Make Rheumatic and Paralytic Cripples Walk and Cure Malaria, Nervousness, Dyspepsia Constipation, Liver and Blood Disorders in a Most Remarkable Manner—M. J. Roth Was Made to Walk Without Crutches, Vouched for by Minister Krey of Lutheran Church, St. Louis.

While Dr. Veno was holding his healing clinics in the City of St. Louis for the purpose of demonstrating the remarkable power of Veno's Curative Syrup and Veno's Electric Fluid, which caused great excitement among medical men, Mr. J. Roth, of 403 Garfield Avenue, St. Louis, was brought to him walking on two crutches. He was almost helpless from Chronic Rheumatism. The crutches were for years had emanated from his tortured patient so that his friends could hardly recognize him. These bottles of Veno's Electric Fluid were rubbed on both his legs and across his back, and in an hour he was so far recovered that he walked without his crutches and has never used them since. Minister Krey writes about the wonderful cure as follows:
Some weeks ago Mr. J. Roth was so much crippled that he could hardly walk with crutches. To-day he came to my residence and convinced me that he was able to walk without crutches or help of any kind. Mr. Roth told me that the improvement in his health was the result of the treatment of Veno's Electric Fluid and Veno's Curative Syrup. (Signed) M. KREY, Pastor, 527 Garfield Ave., St. Louis.
June 3, 1905.
The above statement is true. Dr. Veno will give $1.00 to anyone who can prove the contrary. A man who would doubt the virtue of Veno's Remedies in the face of such evidence is a fool. Don't listen to bigotry and prejudice, go to your drug store for Veno's Remedies at once.
VENO'S CURATIVE SYRUP (2 cents a bottle) is a positive cure for nervousness, malaria, fever, weak stomach, dyspepsia, constipation, liver, kidney and blood diseases, sleeplessness and poor appetite, and when used with VENO'S ELECTRIC FLUID (2 cents a bottle), will cure the worst and most desperate forms of rheumatism, paralysis, spinal troubles, sciatica, neuritis, stiff joints, weak muscles, numbness and all aches and pains. Guaranteed to cure permanently. If your druggist has not got these medicines, ask him to get them for you.

Cataract Can Not Be Cured

With local applications as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Cataract is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Cataract Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Cataract Cure is not a quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years, and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing Cataract. Send for testimonials, free.

IRRIGATION IN ILLINOIS.

It is a Success at Kankakee and is Advocated Along the Canal.

That the wonderful success of the irrigated farm at Kankakee will give a great impetus to irrigation in Illinois there can be no doubt, says the Irrigation Age. Sooner or later this state and other states along the line of the great lakes will be watered by pipelines from those great bodies of water, Illinois especially, penetrated as it is to be by the great drainage canal. Alarmists say that the withdrawal of 500,000 cubic feet of water a minute from Lake Michigan by the drainage canal will reduce the level of the lakes to such an extent as to interfere with navigation by the largest lake steamers. In a rain of six inches which recently fell over these lakes the quantity of water added to them was 1,079,640,176,000 cubic feet. It would take seven years for the Chicago drainage canal to withdraw this quantity of water. This "drainage" canal is really a great ship canal, and by tapping it here and there crops will be aided to make cargoes for those ships.

But that is a matter of the future. For the immediate present pumping plants will convey water from neighboring streams, as at Kankakee, and in this farmers can associate themselves together here and there and divide the expense. Reservoirs and lakes will be made in different sections and various means will be employed in pumping the water. Two irrigations a season will prove sufficient in Illinois. Gas engines, oil engines and perhaps electricity will furnish the power, and it is likely that windmills will cut a big figure. With a gasoline engine, a pump and a reservoir, small patches can be independent of any general irrigation companies, though it must be confessed that the latter have proved a great benefit in the far west, reclaiming thousands of acres of barren lands and transforming them into farms that produce not only one, but several crops a season.

Kindergarten at the Opera.

Behind the Orchestra Hall the Matinee Girl Has Luncheon.

The Metropolitan opera house was not built with the idea that any part of it was ever to be used as a picnic grounds and its managers, in looking to the interest of the public, have not seen fit to place signs in any section announcing that it is exclusively for the use of basket parties and that boxholders and ushers are not allowed, says a New York exchange.

The New York matinee girl has taken matters into her own hands, however, and has fixed upon Saturday as the day of her opera picnic. If the opera is "Tristan and Isolde," and begins at 1:45, she dashes in, pink and white of cheeks, fluffy of hair, dainty and debonair, a neat little package under her arm, half an hour before the performance begins.

She buys a ticket, just an admission, and floats disdaintfully by the brown-coated Harry Richards, who stands at the central portal. No ushers for her. She wants no seat. She gets up to the orchestra rail and stands there studying the raiment of her sisters, who do just as she does, and waiting for the opera to begin.

What she does during the action on the stage doesn't much matter. Her transformation scene comes between the acts. The curtain falls, Miss Daintily whirls around, spies a friend who carries a bundle just the size of hers, flies to the place of the friend, and they two rush at each other for a second, squat on the floor behind the orchestra rail, open their bundles, produce cake and bonbons and eat and talk and gush until it is time to be up again and drink in the music.

She is only one girl and her friend is just another like her. They are the types of about a hundred who go to the opera house for every Saturday matinee, bring luncheon and sit on the floor while eating it.

"It's kindergarten day, we call it," said an employee of the house as he gathered on a dusky remnant of cake, crushed marshmallows, chocolate that had been sat upon, flowers that had been crushed and a litter of a dozen other things that help to make pleasant the life of Miss Kuckelbocker.

Uses for Hair.

Most people believe that fishing tackle makers are the only persons who have any employment for the barbers' clippers. A fact that has recently come to light, however, shows a new use to which human hair has been put. During the last year or two tons of hair have been packed between the plates of a certain part of war vessels. Hair is very elastic, and thus affords a most effective backing to metal. Again, it is being used very satisfactorily to form a kind of fender, which is thrown over the side of a vessel to prevent her scrubbing against the dock—to take the place, in fact, of more commonly used rope collars.

Her Hopes Dashed.

"Doctor," said a distressed wife to the family physician, as he was coming downstairs from his patient's room, "can you give me no hope of my husband? Can nothing be done?" "Madam," said the delighted doctor, rubbing his hands, "allow me to congratulate you. Our patient has taken a turn for the better and now we may hope to have him about again in a few weeks." "Oh, doctor!" exclaimed the horrified lady, throwing up her hands, "you told me he could not possibly get better and I have sold all of his clothes!"

From One Who Had Read It.

Edgar Allen Poe's Cottage.

When the park board of Philadelphia decided some time ago that it had no room in any of the city parks for the Edgar Allen Poe cottage at Fordham, in which the poet's greatest production, "The Raven," was written, it looked as if it was doomed to destruction. The progress of greater New York demanded that the Kingsbridge road should be widened and extended and the route that was laid out for it ran directly through the cottage. Admirers of Poe have taken the matter in hand and a bill has been prepared which will soon be presented to the legislature asking for an appropriation to be used in purchasing an acre of ground across the street from where the cottage now stands upon which to remove it. The property will be under the care of the park department.

DR. WILLIAMS' MEDICINE CO.

Gentlemen—While it is entirely contrary to the custom of the medical profession to endorse or recommend any of the so-called proprietary preparations, I shall, nevertheless, give you an account of some of my wonderful experiences with your preparation. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. The fact is well known that medical practitioners do not, as a rule, recognize, much less use, preparations of this kind, consequently the body of them have no definite knowledge of their virtue or lack of it, but soundly condemn them all without a trial. Such a course is manifestly absurd and unjust, and I, for one, propose to give my patients the best treatment known to me, for the particular disease with which they are suffering, no matter what it is, where or how obtained. I was first brought to prescribe Dr. Williams' Pink Pills about two years ago, after having seen some remarkable results from their use. Heuben Hoover, now of Reading, Pa., was a prominent contractor and builder. While superintending the work of erecting a large building during cold weather, he contracted what was thought to be sciatica. He first noticed it one morning in not being able to arise from his bed. After the usual treatment for this disease he failed to improve, but on the contrary grew rapidly worse, the case developing into Hemiplegia, or partial paralysis of the entire right side of the body. Electricity, tonics and massage, etc., were all given a trial, but nothing gave any benefit, and the paralysis continued. In despair he was compelled to hear his physician announce that his case was hopeless. About that time his wife noticed one of your advertisements and concluded to try your Pink Pills.

He had given up hope and it required a great deal of begging on the part of his wife to persuade him to take them regularly.

He, however, did as she desired, and if appearances indicate health in this man, you would think he was better than before his paralysis.

"Why," says he, "I began to improve in two days, and in four or five weeks I was entirely well and at work."

Having seen these results I concluded that such a remedy is surely worth a trial at the hands of any physician, and consequently when a short time later I was called upon to treat a lady suffering with palpitation of the heart and great nervous prostration, after the usual remedies failed to relieve, I ordered Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The result was simply astonishing. Her attacks became less frequent and also less in severity, until by their use for a period of only two months she was the picture of health, rosy-checked and bright-eyed, as well as ever, and she has continued so until today, more than one year since she took any medicine. I have found these pills a specific for chills, or as more commonly known, St. Vitus' dance, as beneficial results have in all cases marked their use. As a spring tonic any one who, from overwork or nervous strain during a long winter has become pale and languid, the Pink Pills will do wonders in brightening the countenance and in buoying the spirits, bringing rose to the pallid lips and renewing the fountain of youth.

Yours respectfully,

J. D. ALBRIGHT, M. D.
